

CANBY ROBINSON
Legacy CIRCLE of Vanderbilt University
Medical Center

Our Community of Supporters

Many people like you who care about Vanderbilt University Medical Center's mission to provide personalized health care are joining the Canby Robinson Legacy Circle. Through gifts in wills or other planning options, these individuals are making a lasting impact on the Medical Center's work for our community and well beyond.

Legacy Circle members are invited to observe and celebrate the important advances happening in health care thanks to their support of compassionate care, innovative research and world-class training at the Medical Center. At Behind the Scenes events, members learn from and interact with our experts in a wide range of fields. In addition, each year members are invited to be part of both our donor celebration event and a special Legacy Circle gathering.

To discuss joining our community of supporters, please contact
Tim Kaltenbach at 615-343-3119 or Adam Watts at 615-875-5037.

“When I thought about the thing that most impacts my life, I thought of Vanderbilt University Medical Center. There’s an incredible amount of work going on there. We’ve put our assets where they’re going to do the most good.”

Karen Kendrick-Baker, who made a gift through a will with her husband, Jerry Baker
